We do not have cats, but Wanda has previously tested cat safe.

Good With Young Children

Not Sure

Comments (Young Children)

We do not have small children. She has had some exposure at meet and greets and has done well around them there.

Turn Out Routine

6am as soon as I get up, around 8am when I leave for work, between noon and 1pm when I get home from work, 6:30 after she eats, between 10pm and 11pm before I got to bed. The longest I've been gone from our home at a stretch is 9 hours and she did fine.

Potty On Lead

Yes

Garbage

No issues.

Stairs

She will do the 3-4 steps from our breezeway to our kitchen and out the side door. We are still working on her do the longer flights to our basement and upstairs.

Floors

She has no trouble handling our laminate flooring in the kitchen. We do have runners down.

Counters

She has never counter surfed.

When is the hound crated?

- 8 Hour Work Day

How does the hound handle being crated?

Wanda handles being crated very well and without issues.

What does the hound enjoy?

Wanda enjoys treats and is food motivated. She has picked up a toy here and there, but has not shown too much interest. She enjoys bounding around our large yard, but is also content to sit in the grass or our sandbox and just hang out during nice weather. She enjoys being petted and affection.

Does the hound have any fears?

None that I've found. Wanda has done fine during the thunderstorms we have had and had no adverse reactions to fireworks.

What type of temperament does the hound have? (Shy, outgoing, confident, etc.)

Wanda is a pretty laid back girl, but also has a really fun personality and gets excited before being let outside and before walks. She gets along well with our 3 greyhounds. She mainly peacefully co-exists with them in the house and is not too engaged, but is more playful outside with them.

How does the hound handle new situations?

Wanda can be a bit hesitant with some new situations such as the first time she went out in our yard and when first coming in from the breezeway onto our landing and through the baby gate entrance that is set up into our kitchen, but once she learns what is expected of her, she does fine.
