Good With Young Children

Not Sure

Comments (Young Children)

He has not had the opportunity to be around small children, but he doesn't seem too concerned with them when they are outside.

Turn Out Routine

He goes out in the morning when we get up, then again after breakfast. Depending on my work schedule he might go out one more time before I leave. He goes out again when I get home. Most days we go for a walk after dinner and then he gets let out one or two more times before bed.

Potty On Lead

Yes

Garbage

He will eat it.

Stairs

He has not attempted the stairs yet

Floors

He is unsure about hardwood floors but does better if there are rugs spread throughout the house.

Counters

He is very interested in what is on the counter but has yet to actually get up on them, but I wouldn't put it past him to eventually figure out counter surfing

When is the hound crated?

- 8 Hour Work Day

How does the hound handle being crated?

He does not like to go in the crate and has had one successful escape attempt. Other than trying to get out he hasn't done anything else in the crate and has stayed in there up to 8 hours.

What does the hound enjoy?

Arthur loves to play with the toys. He also enjoys walks.

Does the hound have any fears?

He is unsure of strangers and will need some time to get to know someone. He is also not very confident in new situations and usually relies on the other hounds in the house to give him direction on whether he should trust something or not.

What type of temperament does the hound have? (Shy, outgoing, confident, etc.)

Upon first meeting him he is shy, but once he warms up he is a playful, affectionate boy.

How does the hound handle new situations?

He looks to either me or the other dog(s) in the house before he tries something new.
